S. S. DODGE,

THE LEADING JEWELER,

AGENT FOR THE COLUMBIA!

—The young man from Indiana who goes over to Sterling every month or so and blows out the gas when he retires at the hotel seems to have had sense enough Saturday night to leave his room window open and thus it was that the coroner was not disturbed the next day.

—John R. Suter, our good horse trainer, is gaining fame in his line. The secret of his success is the gentle manner in which he treats the colts or the ugly old balker for that matter. He has now a number of fine colts in charge. Among them a 'Pickpocket," a half sister to "Margaret M.," the famous Seyster three-year old of Oregon.

—Eli's place was the scene of considerable sport last night. A half dozen fellows instituted a boycott on Eli; sitting on the walk across the street and feasting on cigars, water melons, ice cream and lemonade purchased at a neighboring ice cream parlor. The crowd had the laugh on Eli, but he will get even with them; but still the jokers should remember that "The heart that is soonest awake to the flower Is always the first to be touched by the thorn."

—A real life romance appears to have been vibrating between Stephenson and Lee counties, as we learn from the Freeport Democrat's extensive account of the affair which we briefly give: A rather young and not over-attractive wife, an old and very jealous husband and a good-looking hired man tells the story. The wife, Mrs Catharine Kopf, occupies a cell in the county jail; the husband, John Kopf, is on his farm near Shannon and the hired man, August Papst, is on a farm near Amboy. The woman was arrested in Lee county Friday by Sheriff McNamara, of Freeport. Catharine now languishes in the Freeport jail on a charge of bigamy. She "loved not wisely but too well."

IN OPEN REBELLION.

Miners and Farmers at Briceville, Tenn., Coal Mines.

THE STATE MILITIA CALLED OUT.

But Halted in Order to Determine a Legal Question—The Rioters Overawe the Guard at the Mines and the Latter Retire to Knoxville to Avoid a Fight—A Censorship Established in the Telegraph Office Under Threats of Destroying the Wires—The Mob Well Armed and Backed by the Whole Community.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 21.—Governor Buchanan yesterday morning received a telegram from Warden Blevins, at Briceville, that over 1,000 men had gathered between that place and Coal creek, preparatory to marching against the Briceville stockade. Governor Buchanan at once decided to call out the entire military of the state, and for that purpose he immediately telegraphed each company, and instructed General J. L. Weakley to arrange transportation for them.

A Small Army En Route.

Each company was ordered to secure three days' rations. Tents and blankets were issued from the capitol and sent down by the special train. The train pulled out at 6 o'clock p. m. with three Nashville companies, a Springfield company, and one from Franklin on board, and they will pick up along the line companies from Murfreesboro, Shelbyville, Tullahoma, and Sewanee. Clarksville and Lebanon companies passed through later, and four companies from Memphis and one from Jackson are also en route on another special train. There are fourteen companies in all, comprising 450 men, and 100 will be taken on at Chattanooga.

A Legal Hitch in the Matter.

LATER.—Late last night Governor Buchanan ordered the military to wait at Knoxville pending further instructions. This is done because he desires to have Attorney General Pickett's opinion as to his authority to quell the troubles independent of the Anderson county officials, who are claiming that they do not want any troops. Under the law it looks as if the state can only interfere in case county officials call for their service—in other words, the military can only be used under civil authority—and it is this question that the governor desires Attorney General Pickett to consider.

AT THE SCENE OF DISTURBANCE.

The Miners and Farmers Force the Militia to Withdraw.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 21.—The crisis in the trouble between the ousted miners in this district and the convicts who were brought here from the state's prison at Nashville, has at last been reached. When about 400 armed strikers attacked the guards who had charge of fifty felons at Briceville last Wednesday night and liberated their charges it was confidently predicted that this would be but the beginning of a general movement throughout the entire state. Governor Buchanan was immediately notified and responded by ordering two companies from Chattanooga and one from Knoxville to the scene. Of the fifty convicts taken from the guards at Briceville, two escaped and the others were brought to this city.

The Governor's Speech to the Rioters.

When the militia arrived they took the convicts along back with them and warned the mob that they would protect them at all hazards. Governor Buchanan at once proceeded to the seat of trouble and in a speech explained his position to the rebellious miners. He told them that it was his sworn duty to uphold the law, and if the convict lease system was wrong he was not to blame, and that the only recourse of the men was through the legislature. The miners announced that their families were starving and that they were compelled to drive out the convicts if it cost the life of every man in the valley.

Made Sport of the Militaire.

They made all sorts of fun of the handful of beardless youths, but declared that they would not harm the "spider-legged, cigarette-smoking dudes," as they characterized the militia, but that as soon as the militia was withdrawn they would release every convict in the region. Becoming impatient, however, at the delay in recalling they troops the decided to try to overcome the troops by force of numbers, and how they succeeded is related below.

Surrounded the Briceville Camp.

The troops from Briceville arrived here at 4 o'clock p. m. yesterday. They were all in good spirits, and will return this morning with reinforcements. The boys were badly treated by the people of Knoxville, who seemed to be in perfect sympathy with the lawless element in Coal Creek valley. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning 2,000 miners, farmers, and other natives who have no occupation at all, took possession of the hills around the Briceville camp. Fifteen hundred of these were armed with rifles; the rest had shotguns and pistols. They came from all the mines within a radius of fifty miles. The organization was complete, and their leaders placed them along the hillsides with military precision.

A Call to Arms and a Parley.

At the call to arms the little garrison turned out gallantly and prepared for defense. It was apparent at a glance that a fight would result in a massacre. A meeting of the officers was called. Some declared that a stout resistance to the first attack would be sufficient and the mob would withdraw. Others thought that it would be suicidal, yet every one was in favor of doing his duty, notwithstanding the exposed position they were to defend. The miners called a parley and were met on neutral ground by Colonel Sevier. They stated that they had sufficient force to overwhelm the soldiers, but did not care to shed blood if the convicts were quietly turned over to them.

A RETREAT IN GOOD ORDER.

The Militia Evacuates Its Camp and the Mob Takes Possession.

This was emphatically refused. The miners then asked Col. Sevier if he would remove his troops and take the convicts with him. He asked what would be done with the mining company's property, which was also under his protection. They replied that it would not be injured. He also asked if an attack would be made on the Knoxville Iron company's stockade just below Briceville. If such was intended he intended to fall back there and fight it out regardless of the consequences. The leaders' reply was that no attack would be made.

The troops then marched out of camp, carrying with them the convicts, all their commissary supplies and baggage. They marched to Briceville and there took the train to Knoxville.

Promises Promptly Violated.

The troops were hardly out of sight before the mob violated its promise. The rioters went to the mines of the Knoxville Iron company, surrounded the stockade, and captured the 125 convicts there, with the guards. They were shipped away to Knoxville, and arrived here about 5:30 o'clock. The mob then started for Oliver Springs, where they also intended liberating the prisoners. The whole of eastern Tennessee is in sympathy with the miners. Whether the convicts at Alum Springs have been liberated is not known.

Great Excitement at Knoxville.

A call of some labor leaders has been issued for a labor meeting here tonight. The excitement here is intense. Streets are crowded and a diversity of opinion is heard. Many of the labor men say the miners have done right. The troops who arrived yesterday say the statements made that they would not fight but wished the miners to capture the convicts are false. The Chattanooga boys showed a determination to go back to the front.

The Mob Leaders Send Out Scouts.

A number of the leaders in the mob yesterday were in the city last night getting all the information they could of the intentions of the governor. Some of these men returned to Coal Creek on the 8:30 train, and others remained in the city. Excitement here seems to be increasing every minute, and thousands are on the streets.

Established a Censorship.

The miners have appointed a committee to say what dispatches shall be sent out and what not, and this committee or some of it is in the telegraph office all the time and reads all the matter sent out by the newspaper men. The committee, whether self-appointed or under the miners' organization, told the operator on duty at the key that if he did not let them read the messages they would cut the wires. A report came from Coal creek late yesterday afternoon saying the miners declare that no troops can be landed there. There are threats that they will wreck the trains or burn railway bridges.

Memphis Troops Off for the War.

MEMPHIS, July 21.—The Chickasaw Guards, Hibernian Rifles, Bluff City Zouaves and the Rosier Zouaves, under orders from Governor Buchanan, left this city at 9:30 last night for Briceville, the seat of the mining troubles. The companies are small, the four turning out about 100 men, under the command of General Samuel Carnes.

TERRIBLE DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

A Mother Kills Her Three Children and Then Commits Suicide.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 21.—The murder by Mrs. Lochridge of her three children and her own suicide was a peculiarly horrible tragedy. The family lived three miles from Springfield, Maury county, and Mr. Lochridge is a well-to-do farmer. Mrs. Lochridge was something of an invalid, but when her husband left home Sunday morning to go to church she was apparently as well as usual, and there was no hint of the tragedy that was so soon to be enacted. The children—aged 4 months, and 3 and 4 years respectively—were playing around their mother all too ignorant of what was passing in her mind.

The Terrible Slaughter Accomplished.

As soon as her husband was well out of sight and hearing, it seems, Mrs. Lochridge took his shotgun, a breech-loader, and began her dreadful work. It is believed that she first chloroformed the little ones before using the gun. Taking each child in turn she drew up the clothes so as to expose the flesh, and discharged a load of shot into its heart. Then she placed the little corpses side by side on a pallet, drew down their clothes neatly about them, and standing at their feet fired a fourth charge into her own heart. A letter she wrote to her husband shows plainly that she was demented.

Horse Racing at Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Two race tracks on the west side started in business yesterday—the Hawthorne and Garfield courses. At Hawthorne the winners were: Fred Taral, ¾ mile, 1:18; Silver Lake, 1⅛ miles, 1:58; C. L. Brown, ¾ mile, 1:17; Blaze Duke, ⅞ mile, 1:04; Allan Bane, 1 mile, 1:45½.

At Garfield: Lake View, ¾ mile, 1:14; Mollie V., ⅞ mile, 1:01¾; Topgallant, 1 mile, 1:44; Farine, ⅞ mile, 1:02; Ray S., 5½ furlongs, 1:08½; Borealis, ⅞ mile, 1:01⅝.

LOANED HIS NAME.

Explanation of a Recent Mystery at Chicago.

LOSS OF A DEAD MAN'S IDENTITY.

The Plot Hatched by Two Bosom Friends So That One Could Obtain a Situation on a False Name and with the Other's References—Suicide of the Man Who Loaned His Identity and Subsequent Difficulty in Establishing the Same—The Truth Out.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Frank C. Hall committed suicide in this city last week. He was a cousin of Judge and E. W. Kohlsaat, two prominent citizens, but until yesterday they did not know, nor did they believe, that the body in the pickling vat at the Chicago Medical college was that of their cousin; and thereby hangs a peculiar and remarkable story, which has the rare virtue of being true. Judge Kohlsaat visited the college last week and looked at the corpse, but came away declaring that there was not a feature that reminded him of his cousin. The reason for this was that the surgeons had held a postmortem and removed the top of the skull. In replacing it they had not fitted it on properly, and there was a deep seam in the middle of the forehead. Of course this made a marked change in the appearance of the man.

Why the Judge Was Incredulous.

But there was another reason for incredulity on the part of the judge. E. W. Gillette, manufacturer of flavoring extracts, a short time ago employed a man calling himself Frank C. Hall, and, and giving Judge Kohlsaat as his reference, to travel in Ohio and sell Gillette's goods. Mr. Gillette took the precaution before employing the alleged Hall to telephone the judge and ask about the reference, receiving a reply that it was all right. If Frank Hall was traveling in Ohio he could not be a corpse in a Chicago medical college; yet there were a number of things that pointed to the fact that the corpse was that of Hall, in spite of Judge Kohlsaat's failure to identify it.

The Dead Man Was Hall.

When the question first arose last week Judge Kohlsaat went to see Mr. Gillette, and it was arranged that he should telegraph his agent in Ohio and find out whether he was dead or alive—whether he was Hall or some other man. Yesterday a letter was received in reply. It stated that the agent was alive, but that Hall was probably dead. At any rate the agent wasn't Hall, as his proper name was Curran. He confessed that he obtained the situation by false pretense and said he was willing to resign or to go on with his work—which, by the way, has been very satisfactory—just as Mr. Gillette should determine.

A PLOT OF BOSOM FRIENDS.

The One Permits the Other to Use His Name and References.

And this is how it happened. Hall and Curran had for years been bosom friends. Since they were boys in Cincinnati they had shared each other's joys and sorrows. Both were hard up a few months ago. Hall was a ne'er-do-well, albeit a good-hearted fellow. He once had a wife and children and a happy home, but liquor broke all that up and his wife obtained a divorce. Then he went down lower, and would have starved while here had the Kohlsaats not helped him. But he and Curran remained firm friends. After a long search Hall obtained employment here in a real estate office, but Curran was in bad luck. He could get nothing to do.

A Possible Opening.

A few weeks ago while looking over the advertisements in the Sunday papers, Curran ran across one inserted by E. W. Gillette, the flavoring extract manufacturer on River street. Gillette wanted a traveling salesman, and Curran though he could fill the position. As he states in his letter, he was a stranger in the city, and had no references. He and Hall talked the matter over, and a bright idea occurred to them. As James Curran in hard luck and without references would stand no chance of getting the position. As the cousin of Judge Kohlsaat all would be clear sailing. Hall, who it appeared from the judge's statement, was of a most generous disposition, fell heartily in with the scheme.

Overcame the Cash Difficulty.

There was another difficulty to overcome. The advertisement stated that $25 was required as a deposit for the samples that would be intrusted to the salesman. Neither Hall nor Curran had seen that amount of money in some time. Hall, however, thought he could fix that all right. There was the Judge, who was his first cousin, and to whom he had often applied for help. Hall's conscience must have troubled him somewhat, as he exhausted every other means to raise the required $25 before asking the judge for it. He asked the judge, telling him that he could get a good job if the loan was made, and Judge Kohlsaat gave him his check for the amount.

Curran Gets the Position.

In the meantime Curran had written to E. W. Gillette applying for the position. He signed Hall's name to the letter and gave "his cousin Judge Kohlsaat" as reference. He received a reply requesting him to call. This was before the $25 had been obtained, but it made the raising thereof imperative, and Hall saw his cousin immediately with the success noted above. Hall gave the check to his friend and Curran took it to Gillette. The latter never saw Hall, but did business all the way through with Curran. He was pleased with the man's address, and though he knew nothing of his character, he considered Judge Kohlsaat's check a sufficient guarantee on that point, and gave Curran the job.

Goes Traveling "Incognito."

Curran, under the name of Frank C. Hall, went out on the road, and did well for his employer. It does not appear that Hall was any gainer from the scheme, but that he entered into it simply to help his boyhood friend out of the hole. Curran is still in Ohio, and wrote that he would continue his route unless he heard from the firm to the contrary. Mr. Gillette is in Europe. His manager, E. H. Hill, said yesterday: "We will not discharge Curran for his deception, and shall allow him to remain on the road for a time at least. He has been faithful in the discharge of his duty. We shall investigate his previous record, and if it will warrant such action will continue him in our employ."

Poor Hall To Be Decently Buried.

Poor Hall got discouraged. His situation was not a good one. He was weak and ill and he took a dose of poison. "That ends the mystery," said Mr Ernest Kohlsaat, "and the only remaining thing to do is to care for Hall's body. It will be taken charge of at once and given a decent burial. Curran could be prosecuted for the deception practiced, as he signed a number of drafts on his firm, using Hall's name. But he seems to be an honest fellow, and I suppose nothing will be done to him."

NAVAL PIGHEADEDNESS.

A Yacht Sailor Sues Uncle Sam's Navy Department.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The navy department will shortly have a law suit on its hands. William McNair, of Boston, a seaman, through his counsel, Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, will sue the department for $25,000 for false imprisonment. His case is peculiar. He was a member of the crew of the yacht Volunteer, and the uniform of the crew is similar to that of the United States seamen. There were a number of desertions from the "White Squadron" while it was here and McNair was arrested four times as one of the deserters.

He Ought to Win His Suit.

He protested against the arrest, and asked to have the owner of the yacht, Mr. Payne, sent for to identify him, but the request was refused and he was taken to New York the last time and kept under arrest until the navy officers were satisfied that he did not belong to the navy. The whole case presents a very high-handed abuse of authority, if McNair can prove what he says.

THAT NEW CALIFORNIA LAKE.

The People Want the Southern Pacific Restrained from Shutting Off the Water.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The acting secretary of the interior has received a letter from Wood McKnight, of Riverside, Cal., relative to the new lake forming in Colorado desert, in which attention was called to a report that the Southern Pacific Railroad company is about to stop the overflow of the Colorado river, the property of the company being placed in jeopardy, and requesting the interior department to intervene in behalf of the people of southern California whom it is presumed the new body of water will greatly benefit. The acting secretary in his reply to Mr. McKnight says that the matter does not come within the jurisdiction of the interior department, and that the remedy of the people against anticipated injury from the operations of the railroad company in protecting its property lies in the courts.

EXCITED CITIZENS.

St. Paul People Make Some More Protests.

BUT THAT FIGHT WILL COME OFF.

A Great Meeting, Addressed by Archbishop Ireland and Senator McMillan, Effects Nothing—The Governor Said to Have a Box at the Fight—An Attempt to Secure Fitzsimmons' Arrest—Law and Order at a Discount and the Slugger on Top.

ST. PAUL, July 21.—The mass-meeting last night to protest against the Hall-Fitzsimmons fight Wednesday night was attended by over 5,000 people. Archbishop Ireland was the chief speaker of the evening and he arraigned the prize ring and its lawlessness and vulgar animalism, and the municipal authorities for permitting the exhibition. Ex-United States Senator McMillan and Rev. W. H. Butricks, of the First Baptist church, were the other speakers, and were even more severe than the bishop.

A Memorial to the Governor.

Toward the close of the meeting a memorial was presented calling on the governor to interfere and prevent the fight, in view of Mayor Smith's public refusal to do so. It was proposed to present the memorial to-day, but the crowd would have no delay. With shouts of "Present it now," it was decided to carry the matter before Governor Merriam at once, and the entire 5,000 went en masse to the state capitol for that purpose. A committee was sent to summon Governor Merriam from his residence to receive the memorial. The governor told the committee he could not address such a great crowd, but would receive the memorial in the morning.

Says He Has Some Rights.

The governor said to the committee: "While chief executive of the state, you must not forget that I have also the rights of a private citizen, and it is not my intention to be disturbed this evening. You can leave your memorial and I will consult thereon with the attorney general and let you know my decision." There is no probability of Governor Merriam taking any adverse action. Indeed, it is said he has engaged a box to witness the fight.

Will Try to Arrest Fitzsimmons.

Yesterday afternoon a complaint was filed and a warrant issued for the arrest of Fitzsimmons, one of the principals in the coming fight. It was sworn out by William P. Landon. The fact was at once telegraphed to White Bear and Fitzsimmons and his trainer are now in hiding. A host of people from all parts of the country are constontly arriving to witness the fight. The management have no fears that the fight will not take place.

Nobody Able to Do Anything.

In an interview during the day Governor Merriam said he would take no action. His position is that the governor is not authorized by law to move unless the local authorities notify him that they are helpless, and need state aid. County Attorney O'Brien declares that he will take no action, and Mayor Smith says he will not interfere. The courts will not issue an injunction, for the reason that where a remedy is found in a statute it is not the policy of the courts to apply the power of a restraining order.

The Warrant Is of No Use.

The office of the county attorney was thronged all day long with religious people clamoring for warrants for all concerned in the arrangements for the mill, but to all the same answer was returned, At 4 o'clock Sheriff Bead announced that a warrant had been issued for Fitzsimmons' arrest, but that it did not come through the county attorney's office, nor had it been placed in his hands for service. The warrant is in the hands of Chief of Police Clark. It will not be served until after the fight.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21.—Attorney General Smith received a letter Monday from the prosecutor at Lawrenceburg regarding the action of the board of review toward the banks that refused to state the several amounts which their depositors had on hand at the beginning of the assessment year. When the attorney general's opinion was received the board summoned the officers of the banks, and, under threat of sending them to jail, secured statements of deposit showing that $370,000 had been withheld from the assessors. This sum, together with 50 per cent. additional as penalty, was placed upon the tax duplicate, making a total of $400,000 as the result of the investigation.

A MISFIT MARRIAGE LICENSE.

He Wanted His Money Back, but It Was No Go.

"I got a license here day before yesterday," said a man to a clerk in the vital statistics office. "That document gave permission of the people of this sovereign state for the uniting in wedlock of Jeremiah Sassafras and Annabel McJunkin."

"Yes."

"I paid fifty cents for that license in good hard cash."

"Well, what of it?"

"Annabel McJunkin won't have me."

"That's bad. Went back on her promise, did she?"

"Not exactly, sir. You see she hadn't promised to marry me."

"Then why did you get a license?"

"It was this way. I loved her, and wanted to marry her; and I thought if I got a license and took it to her she'd see I meant business, and would come to time."

"And it didn't work?"

"No, sir. I showed her the big seal of the state, and told her that the eyes of the whole commonwealth, through the duly qualified officers, were upon her, and that her duty was to obey the mandate of the law."

"What did she say to that?"

"She only laughed."

"That's very sad."

"Sad's no name for it, sir, and I want to know what's to be done."

"I don't see any remedy."

"Is a weak girl with red hair to defy the authority of the state?"

"That's about the way of it."

"Can't you send an officer to impress upon her the dignity of the commonwealth, and to make her understand that the documents issued by this office are not to be trifled with?"

"No."

"Well, I suppose I can get my money back, can't I?"

"No."

"Here's the license just as it was when I took it away from here, not a bit the worse for wear."

"We can't take it back, sir, or refund the fee."

"And you can't compel the girl to marry me after issuing that license and charging me good money for it?"

"No."

"Then that settles it. The government of the present day is a hollow mockery. You hear me, insolent minion of a supine and powerless state! I go, but I return! The day of vengeance draws nigh, sir. Beware! You shall hear from me again, and when you hear me, tremble!"

And Jeremiah Sassafras was gone.—William Henry Siviter in Harper's Bazar.

Not Worth It.

One of the old clerks at the general delivery window tells the following story: Years ago a man called one day at the window and asked if there was a letter for Mike McGinnis. The clerk handed him one from the old country, with twenty-four cents due on it. Mr. McGinnis asked the clerk to read it for him, as he could not read himself. The polite clerk complied.

When he had finished reading it, Mr. McGinnis asked if "that was all?"

The clerk said, "Yes."

"Then it's not worth twenty-four cents, and I'll not take it," said Mr. McGinnis, and turning on his heel he walked away. Some time after the same Mr. McGinnis called and asked for a letter. The clerk recognized him, gave him the same letter he had read before, but took the precaution to collect his twenty-four cents.—Mail Coach.

Do gape to float these mystic ships,
Imagine they are sailing south

No Time Lock for Him.

A certain official was bothered almost to death by people running in on him at all times of the day and he was expressing himself emphatically on the subject.

"Why don't you put a time lock on your door so they can get in only at a stated hour?" suggested a friend.

"Time lock, nothing," he exclaimed, "what I want is an eternity lock."—Washington Star.

The Honest Agent.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheny & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

A PAIN IN THE BACK
A pain in the back is not alwasy the sign of kidney trouble. Quite often it is only an indication of cold, although if neglected it is liable to lead to grave trouble. By treating it at once you will save yourself a vast amount of suffering and annoyance. In all cases of this sort take Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure. It is composed of simple, yet powerful, ingredients, but none of them are harmful even to the weakest constitution, nor is it unpleasant to take, but it acts at once and will relieve the worst pain and all tendency to rheumatitsm which always follows colds that are allowed to settle in the back if they are neglected. All dealers keep it. Twenty five and fifty cents a bottle.

A CHILDLESS HOME.
Smith and his wife have every luxury that money can buy, but there is one thing lacking to their happiness. Both are fond of children, but no little voices prattle, no little feet patter in their beautiful home. "I would give ten years of my life if I could have one healthy, living, child of my own," Smith often says to himself. No woman can be the mother of healthy offspring unless she herself is in good health. If she suffers from female weakness, general debility, bearing-down pains and functional derangements, her physical condition is such that she cannot hope to have healthy children. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a soverign and guaranteed remedy for all these ailments.
Worn-out, "run-down," feeble women, need Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It builds them up. It's a powerful, restorative tonic, or strength-giver—free from alcohol and injurious drugs. The entire system is renewed and invigorated. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, gives refreshing sleep, and restores flesh and strength.
It's the only guaranteed medicine for women, sold by druggists.

—No trace has yet been found of the man who gave his name as Vincent, when he hired the horse and drove from Sterling to Dixon last week with S. S. Keeffer's rig, and left it in Dan McKenney's barn. The man hired the horse to drive to Galt, so he told the Sterling liveryman.

—There was a good attendance at the Dixon Shooting Club meeting yesterday at Maple Park. Besides the regular allowance of twenty-five Peoria blackbirds, sides were chosen for many interesting matches. Will F. Hilles broke twenty-two out of twenty-five; Blinn Smith, of Palmyra, and Sy Tompkins, of North Dixon, twenty-one; Bob Adams nineteen There will be a larger attendance at the next meeting, judging from the interest shown yesterday.

—Members of our Board of Supervisors have a queer notion of the printing business. They readily fixed the pay at thirty dollars for publishing the new election law while at the same time they compel the newspapers to publish the proceedings of Board for five dollars. The space occupied is about the same. If it is worth thirty dollars to publish the law why is it not worth that amount to print the proceedings? Did the Board put the amount for publishing the law so much higher because the State pays the newspapers? If so is that fair? We are not complaining on account of the fair price set for low publication, but we do say that the five dollars paid for printing the proceedings of the Board is beggerly low.

—Rochelle people propose to make it lively for the Ross heirs and their heirs and assigns. Saturday night, a dispatch states, five hundred citizens of Rochelle and vicinity responded to a call for a mass meeting to take action on the Ross heir suits. G. W. Clark presided. Addresses were made showing that there had been a miscarriage of justice, and advocating united action and further resort to the higher courts for legal redress. Resolutions were adopted authorizing a committee of five to secure council to defend the occupants' rights against the Ross heir litigation. Another committee was appointed to solicit signatures to a compact, and money to prosecute their suits. The committees are in possession of new evidence, which they believe is sufficiently strong to reverse the decisions heretofore made by the Appellate and Supreme Courts of Illinois.

If The Court Please.

THE TELEGRAPH mentioned the fact that the three Judges of the Circuit Court of this district held a consultation in Oregon last week for the purpose of dividing up the work during the coming fall; and until December the following arrangements were entered into and agreed upon as such division: Judge Cartwright will preside at the August term in Oregon; Judge Shaw for Stephenson in September; Winnebago in October and Jo Daviess in November, while Judge Crabtree dispense justice at the Whiteside October term and Carroll in November.

A SANITARIUM AT DIXON.

Happy Thought by Neighbor Hawley—Endorsed by Prof. Neighbour.

A suggestion from Jas. A. Hawley, that after the Lutheran Assembly, soon to convene, their grounds and buildings might profitably and not inappropriately be used for a sanitarium, has something in it for us to consider. In view of the much lately written in regard to our advantages at Dixon for a pleasure resort, more would be superfluous. But when you consider that probably along the whole course of the "Hudson of the West" there is no more attractive stretch than from White Rock to Godfrey's Bluff—with the intervening islands, bluffs, the "grand detour" northeast of town, Hazelwood, Fuller's Cave, the boat race, the Assembly ground and the Big Elm—and that Dixon is the one point of easy access to all this from a distance, you will realize anew that our city possesses some very favorable conditions for a pleasure or health resort. And as to that great essential, climate, we can "invite comparison and challenge competition." Already our region is sought by camping and fishing parties far and near.

As a town we have awakened to the advantage to us of institutions drawing men and money to our midst. The citizens have well sustained the business men's organizations that have already helped to locate such institutions here. Now is there anything else obtainable, and does it lie in the line of Mr. Hawley's suggestion?

At Dwight, this state, is an institution whose cures of inebriety are the marvel of the day. The whole world is giving it attention and investigation, and it stands the test. One of our physicians said to me the other day, "Keeley's cure has come to stay. It can't be downed or ridiculed, for all over the nation are men it has cured of drunkenness."

Dr. Keeley's charges per individual are moderate, and yet a young gentleman from Dwight tells me the doctor's income has grown to be more than $1,000 per day. In a pamphlet I chance to have, I see that at any rate eight branch institutes have been established.

The location of such a sanitarium in or near our city would seem to me a benefit to humanity at large, and a source of profit to us as a community. Could it be done? The many attractions of the town would surely aid to secure it.

Does it seem to the level-headed readers of THE TELEGRAPH a matter worth investigating?

Respectfully suggested,
L. B. NEIGHBOUR.

SABBATH DAY AT OUR CHURCHES

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

J. M. Ruthrauff, Pastor, in his morning sermon took for his subject: "It is hard for thee to kick against the pricks."

God has set a limit to the powers of every creature. The tree may grow so high and live so long, but no longer. The ocean may wash the shores of every continent and island but can not encompass the land. The rivers may swell and burst their accustomed banks, but can not deluge the mountain top. The sun and moon, and all heavenly bodies move within their God given orbits, but not otherwise. The fish may inhabit the waters but not the land; the birds the air but not the ocean. Man may organize the forces and treasures of the earth and the air, for his own comfort and wellbeing, but he can not put cubic feet in the space of one, or retain his spirit in the body forever. Man is limited in his moral and physical nature as well as in his mental and physical. Some things he may do because they are right and find peace and happiness in so doing, while others that are wrong would result in guilt, condemnation and destruction. To attempt to set aside these divinely appointed limits is hard. It is to kick against the pricks. (1) Because it is a resistance of the inimitable laws of God. (2) It incurs the displeasure of God. (3) It incurs guilt of conscience and certain ruin. Both the Bible and experience teach that enduring happiness in the present and future can only be found in a cheerful obedience to our divinely appointed mission. Therefore "Be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect, will of God."

From Nachusa.

Sylvester Brierton has been improving the appearance of his new farm very much by painting the house and out buildings. He believes in keeping up with the progressive age.

The lawn dance gotten up by Willie Depuy and Bert Fry near the house of the former, just paid expenses and afforded a great amount of pleasure to a select number of young people. Art Williams one of the musicians is a great favorite here.

We were recently reminded of the old song "Advice that is given unasked for, is not very often sweet, and when you are wont to bestow it, look out for a safe retreat." When a young lady objected to the occupation a young man was engaged in, his reply was a cute one and now there is a great gulf between them.

Rev. Earngey was welcomed last Sabbath by a goodly number who speak very highly of his sermon.

E. S. Miller has stored away one hundred and forty tons of hay all in good shape.

Corn and small grain has a more promising look at present than for many seasons past and farmers are in high glee.

The majority of our country folks intend taking in the show at Dixon the 28th, and wish to speak for an extra supply of ice cream, fruit etc., for their own special benefit.

Rev. H. C. Granger will be with us next Sabbath at 3 p. m. He is a very pleasant speaker and well merits the large congregation that gather to hear him.

(From the Sterling Gazette.)

Miss Emily Street is in Dixon visiting with the family of her uncle, Horace Street.

Mrs. C. H. Presbery drove to Dixon on yesterday for a day's visit, returning in the cool of the evening.

A. K. Rouse of Dixon was an early riser this morning. He drove to our city and breakfast at the Galt.

A gentlemah by the name of Lauder, from Amboy, is in our city in quest of a gentleman who he says won his daughters affection on the Fourth, and who claimed he lived in Sterling or Rock Falls, where he owned a drug store, and had twenty thousand dollars to bestow on a good wife. The gentleman was willing to have the twenty thousand dollars chap for a son providing his story was true, as the daughter thought much of him. The masher should make himself manifest.

It is said a race for two hundred dollars is being arranged for, the track to be the regular road between Sterling and Dixon, and the contestants a good bicycle rider against a good roadster pulling a cart. As there are riders in this city who have made the distance in fifty-five minutes, it will keep a horse in pretty good motion to take the purse, and we propose to put our fifteen cents on the wheelman. It would be a novel run, and one tha would excite much interest.

ROMANTIC MAIDENS THREE.

A Floating Bottle in Charles River and the Things It Contained.

Mr. George R. Farrell is in a pleasant state of anticipation just at present, for he is looking forward to a visit from three young and charming girls. Mr. Farrell is in charge of the boathouse on West Boston bridge, at the foot of Cambridge street, where he has been established for a dozen or more years.

A few mornings ago, while removing from his raft rubbish brought along by the tide, he saw a bottle bobbing up and down. He had seen many bottles there before, and this one would not have excited his attention had he not, after several pokes at it, noticed what appeared to him to be something that glittered like gold. Although mindful of the fact that "all that glitters is not gold," he nevertheless stooped and picked the bottle from its wet bed in the Charles river, and found it to be a common pickle bottle.

There were no pickles in it, however; instead, there were several cards, a piece of paper and some pretty colored bows. This he could discern without very careful examination. Returning to his boathouse, treasure in hand and with not a little feeling of curiosity, he removed the cork and then the contents.

The first thing he pulled out proved to be a white card with the following inscription, written in red ink: "Adelaide C. Sterling, eighteen years six months twelve days; eyes light blue." Just below the writing was a small bow of light blue silk, attached to which was a lock of golden hair bordering on the red. Over this "sample" was a piece of isinglass sewed to the card.

He pulled out another card, prepared like the first, and bearing the name, "Phillis E. Dutton, age eighteen years seven months; light blue eyes." A lock of light brown hair was caught by a bow of dark blue silk.

The next thing extracted from the bottle was a card of the same size, nicely incased in isinglass. It bore the following name: "Miss Margarete M. Moulton, nineteen years one month one day, Boston, Mass." On the upper left hand corner of the card were the following lines, cut from a newspaper and attached by thread:

Be quick to praise; be slow to scorn,
For what the future holds, who knows?
Today the vine has but a thorn—
Tomorrow brings the rose!

Accompanying the three cards was a small piece of note paper, which read as follows:

Romantic maidens three. This bottle was thrown from the Chelsea ferryboat, City of Malden, June 9, 1891. If finder will publish in papers the owners will come and claim.

M. M. M., P. E. D., A. C. S.

It will be noticed that one of the young ladies takes the pains to prefix "Miss" to her name. Perhaps the others did not think it necessary, but one preferred evidently to leave no room for doubt. This latter also took the trouble to add the little poem, the first line of which suggests that she had some apprehension.

Mr. Farrell is highly pleased with his discovery, but the girls may not be, for Mr. Farrell is already married and old enough to be their father. He is ready, however, to introduce them to several young men when they call for their property, which he has safely secured in his boathouse on the Charles river.—Boston Herald.

The following frank statement from J. E. Hare, of Trenton, Texas, will be of interest to many of our citizens. "My little boy was very bad off for two months with diarrhœa. We used various medicines, also called in two Doctors, but nothing done him any good until we used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which gave immediate relief and soon cured him. I consider it the best medicine made and can conscientiously recommend it to all who need a diarrhœa or colic medicine." For sale by H. E. Donaldson, Druggist.
